My little sister's [™] journey in her academic career has been a long one. She graduated out of highschool with a 4.5, honors, involvement in clubs, sports, volunteering- you name it, she did it. She was destined for great things. After getting accepted to each of the 11 universities she applied to, she decided to finally go to UCB in California to study medicine. After about a year and a half, she got so overwhelmed and realized she hated what she was studying- she never wanted to be a doctor and was being pressured by family to pursue what they thought was a suitable life long career for her. After a while, she came back home to regroup and refocus on what it was that she wanted in life, and realized that her passion was in the medical field after all- but with nursing. Getting into a community college and taking the prerequisites and excelling in what she did really gave her the passion to continue following her dreams and living the exact life she had dreamed of by helping people. Fast forward to today and she's [™] getting ever closer to her goal, and that includes taking the TEAS test for her acceptance into a few universities. Being a good sibling, I wanted to ensure her success and aid her in her dreams, so I decided to pick up a few different TEAS practice books to help her study. This one was laid out nicely, with each subject listed category by category. Then there are three separate practice tests at the end of the book, with explanations to each practice test answer. This book has been a great help to her and I would definitely recommend this to anyone who has an upcoming TEAS test. These really help out with getting exact material you will see on the test at your fingertips. You will not be disappointed.
